Attachments: 2024.12.06 Cengage v. Google - Domains Noticed through 2024.08.12 identifying WIS.xlsx; Screenshot 2024-12-06 at 12.05.18 PM.png

Counsel,

For purposes of the discovery dispute, attached is an updated spreadsheet regarding the domains in plaintiffs' notices identifying a work in suit (WIS) through 8.12.24. There is one additional domain on this spreadsheet compared to yesterday's version (chanhchua-store.myspreadshop.com, row 251). We are working on supplementing this with more recent notice information. We expect to have this updated list next week.

Also, on this spreadsheet we have swapped the information in column B for what we believe might be a more readily searchable data field. Whereas yesterday's version contained the first part of the domain name without the extension, this version includes the name of the infringing merchant that appears on the ad (e.g., "D-Heart" in the attached screenshot from today).

Please let us know if you have any questions. Thanks, Michele

Subject: Re: Cengage v. Google:

Counsel,

In some cases, there is a difference between a notice to Google identifying a website and a work-in-suit versus a notice identifying a website and an infringing work that is not a work-in-suit (e.g., due to a registration issue), but the merchant was also selling a work-in-suit. For the attached spreadsheet, we can confirm for purposes of this discovery dispute that it is our understanding that the answer to both of your questions is yes (except we would use the term "selling" rather than "hosting"), i.e., the data show that a work-in-suit is in the notice. We would need more time to answer as to the others. We also added a column for just the first part of the domain name, e.g., without the extension, since that is one of the fields we would like Google to search. We will be following up shortly regarding the larger issues involved in the dispute.

Thanks,
Michele

Subject: Cengage v. Google:

Counsel,

During the discovery conference today, we understand that you offered to provide Google with a list of domains connected with the noticed infringements alleged for the asserted works in this case. It would be helpful for Plaintiffs to provide this list in order to focus Google's investigation of a potential compromise on the "related" merchant dispute. Please let us know if Plaintiffs will provide the list mentioned at the conference.

Regards,
Holly
